

ASHLYN moves behind the counter. RANDY hands her a bill and she makes change.

WELCOME HOME. RANDY

Uh, thanks. ASHLYN

What brought you back? RANDY

Coffee. ASHLYN

What? RANDY

I said coffee. ASHLYN

I heard that. I just don't understand... RANDY

Sorry, I thought, oh we should have coffee sometime and we can talk all about it, but my brain just jumped right to...coffee? ASHLYN

Wow. RANDY

Good wow or bad wow? ASHLYN

Good wow. I mean, come in for a book, get a date. RANDY

Just coffee. ASHLYN

Am I buying? RANDY

No, no. ASHLYN

Cuz I will. RANDY

Okay, sure. Yes. That'd be very nice. ASHLYN

RANDY

Then it's a date.

RANDY takes the book, heads towards the door.
Stops and comes back.

RANDY

That was a great line to leave on, huh?

ASHLYN

Yes, it was.

RANDY

But I don't have your number. So I guess I wasted the great line.

ASHLYN jots down her number on a receipt.

ASHLYN

Say it again.

RANDY

Then it's a date...

(eyeing the receipt)
...Ash. Short for Ashley or...?

ASHLYN

Ashlyn.

RANDY

Oh. That's a pretty name. I'm Randy. Not short for anything.
(realizing)

Wait, I did it again! Damn. Okay. This is it. For real this time.
(strikes a hunky pose)

Then it's a date!