

SEAN
Would you believe...I can guess a coin-toss ten times in a row?

ASHLYN
I don't believe it.

SEAN
It's true.

ASHLYN
Are you a magician? I don't like a magic tricks.

SEAN
It's not a trick.

ASHLYN
Then I think you're full of shit.

SEAN
Bet you ten bucks I can do it.

ASHLYN
Fine. You're on.

SEAN smiles, readies his coin. Before he can flip,
ASHLYN stands up and pulls out her own coin.

ASHLYN
But we use my coin. And I do the flipping.

SEAN
I don't know...

ASHLYN
How about for twenty bucks?

He smiles, puts his coin away.

SEAN
You're on.

She flips ten times. He guesses right every time.

ASHLYN
Not bad. How about a hundred times?

SEAN
Double or nothing?

ASHLYN
I just wanna know. Could you do it?

Sure. Easy. SEAN

Is that all you can do? ASHLYN

He stares at her, unsure of what she means.

How does it feel? Knowing the future. But only one. The future of a coin, and how it will land. ASHLYN

I don't feel anything. SEAN

Lucky you. ASHLYN